

Sustainability and populism: go defensive or pro-active?

Dr Heather Grabbe
Open Society European Policy Institute

17th ESDN Workshop
23 May, 2019

Climate change will be key issue in EU elections

When deciding which party to vote for:

- 82% want a party that will force the most polluting companies to clean up and stop destroying the planet;
- 82% want a party that will cut the use of pesticides and antibiotics in food production;
- 80% want a party that will work to protect nature and stop those who are destroying wildlife;
- 73% want a party that will make the EU a global leader in fighting climate change.

Ipsos MORI study released on 16 April 2019, across 11 EU member states

